

INTRODUCTION

DICE is a CRO specialized in Biometrics and more specifically in project initiation, data management, statistics & medical writing. DICE was established in 1989 and services biotech start-ups as well as big pharma companies mainly in interventional studies across the globe. DICE is renowned for delivering excellent quality and is involved in innovative projects. We differentiate by our highly skilled staff, bio statistical knowledge and drive to deliver the best quality to our customers.

As a result of our rapid growth, DICE is seeking to employ a Statistical Programmer. We also refer to our website for more information (<https://www.dice-cro.com/jobs>) and vacancies.

STATISTICAL PROGRAMMER

Key accountabilities

As a statistical programmer you will be in charge of writing, testing and validating SAS programs for data management and statistical analysis of clinical trials and surveys.

You will:

- Support the data managers for efficient data management and program development
- Be responsible for preparing the statistical tables (TFL)
- Provide support with the statistical analyses of clinical trials
- Collaborate with the medical writer in charge of the clinical study report.

You will be part of a multidisciplinary team in which you will contribute to the development and standardization of programs.

Key competencies

- Eye for detail
- Achievement oriented
- Team spirit
- Customer focus
- Integrity and trustworthiness

Key requirement

This position requires:

Education

- Bachelor or Master Degree (preferably in a scientific discipline). A degree in statistics is an added value.

VACANCY

Experience

- Preferably previous experience with statistical programming

Skills/Know How

- Good verbal and written skills in English as well as Dutch or French
- Knowledge of SAS®
- Can do attitude and the flexibility to engage in a variety of tasks
- Relevant experience in clinical research or background in a medical field is a plus
- Eagerness to learn and to continuously develop

We offer the opportunity to develop within a growing company with a strong focus on personal development, flexible work conditions and a competitive compensation package.

Interested?

Send your application to:

DICE Filip Deforce - Koning Albert Avenue 160, B-1082 Brussels

Fax: +32.2.465.76.51, e-mail: filip.deforce@dice-cro.com